Our corporate values

Sustainable profitability is of great importance to Miltzer & Münch. We therefore always take social and ecological aspects into account in our daily decisions. Our transport routes are efficient and resource-saving.

Security in logistics is a decisive criterion for smooth supply chain management. This applies to occupational and transport safety, as well as to data and information security. With different measures, Miltzer & Münch is constantly working on adapting the international supply chains to the increasing demand for security.

Miltzer & Münch is committed to an internal code of conduct, which is a binding basis for the actions of all our employees.

It is the very own responsibility of all Miltzer & Münch managers and employees to "do the right thing" - a responsibility that cannot be delegated.

Our quality management is an important instrument to proactively steer Miltzer & Münch's further development and to optimise processes for the benefit of our customers. Uniform, group-wide quality guidelines, internal training and audits ensure a high level of service and form the basis for certification according to the ISO 9001:2015 standard.
